1.3 - Curriculum Enrichment

1.3.1 - Institution integrates crosscutting issues relevant to Professional Ethics, Gender, Human Values, Environment and Sustainability into the Curriculum while delivering the curriculum of subjects like sociology ,political science the cross cutting issues like courtesy,human values ,compassion and socialisation are taught.

Woman subjected to untold miseries right from the worth of human race and civilization, she is not only victimised because of her gender but also for the work she does. Although God or the Nature have given equally all the qualities to men as well as women, woman is always considered as inferior to men. As the human race moves forward, the patriarchy with the ulterior motives tries to underestimate and exploit the females, though some cultures worship women as deity, in actual practice women is subjected to every form of discrimination and victimization. Many centuries have passed but there was not a sea change in women's plight. The woman herself begins to think that her exploitation is natural and accepted it without hesitation as her destiny. As the future of woman was in darkness, the dawn of 19th century brought some rays to the cloudy world of women. Because of the spread of education the women also started to think about equality, as she has been equally contributing for the sustenance and well-being of the family. The 19th century witnessed the feminist movements especially in the Western world where women as well as liberal males stood against the age-old oppression of women by the males and this thought takes a form of movement which is called feminism.

7.2 - Best Practices

7.2.1 - Describe two best practices successfully implemented by the Institution as per NAAC format provided in the Manual.

Title: Talent Hunt

Context of Initiation:

The quest for multidimensional development of students becomes the requisite for initiation of this practice.

Goals

Following are the objectives of this practice:

- All round development of students.
- To prepare students for intra and inter college competitions.
- To prepare students for zonal and inter-zonal youth festivals.
- To facilitate students to emit best talent out of them.

Practice:

There is hidden talent in students and to acquaint them with their talent college organized activities like debate and quiz competition, poem recitation, poster making, and rangoli etc. These activities comprise of curricular, co-curricular and extracurricular activities. The spirit of healthy competitiveness is developed among students. The winners in college competitions are sent to the intercollegiate competitions. So the spirit of competition, excellence and winning becomes a way for pursuing towards multi dimensional development.

Evidence of success:

- The overall impact, which we have observed are as follows:
- Prepared students for accepting challenges
- Development of spirit of healthy competitiveness among students is developed
- Student teacher interactionfacilitated
- Extensive use of reference books in the library for preparing events by students.
- Proper utilization of extra time
- All round development of students
- Active participation of each student in various activities.

• Different co curricular activities helped to recognizestudents talent in a particular field

- Gave boost to students confidence

Problem encountered and resource required:

 Unavailability of judges from outside campus Strategies Adopted: the sports, culture, drama, theatre study and acting and the language club play important role in organizing the activities, the Principal constitutes various committees and the faculty members perform great job in accomplishing the responsibilities.

Notes

This practice provided new avenues for the all round development of students

Title of the Practice: Budding Writers

Goal:

Following are the objectives of this practice:

- To create a platform for young and budding writers,
- To encourage students writing skills.

The context:

Encouraging students and developing the hidden talent of students for creative writing and developing literary taste of students has initiated this practice

The practice:

IQAC has set up Budding Writers club for students and a literary committee is constituted and a faculty is appointed as its coordinator. The Principal is the chairman of this club who presides over the meetings of this club. All students can avail membership of this club. The club encourages students to write poems, short stories, novels, essays, and articles. Students submit their work to a literary committee which assesses the quality of the works and the quality works are awarded and published. This club also organizes sessions, essay competitions and lectures of eminent writers on creative writing.

Evidence of success:

An essay writing competition was organized, twenty students participated and best three writings are rewarded. Students presented their poems in annual function. This initiative has encouraged the students and therefore, the number of students who seek to become membership in this is increased and this obviously reflects the success of club as a whole. The number of student's participation is also tremendously increased so far. Thus, it seems that students are attracted and encouraged so much and this initiative of IQAC has been successful.

Problem encountered and resource required:

- Insufficient financial resources for publication of quality creative writing.
- Overburdened teachers due to their regular work.

Notes:

This practice provided new avenues for the upcoming writers
